PARIS, July 20.

THEY talk much of a War against the Regency of Tripoli, the Occasion of which is thus related. A Native of Ciotat, in Provence, who went some Years ago to Tripoli, and turned Mahometan, having, with his new Religion, imbibed a great Hatred to his Countrymen, and being lately made a Raiz, or Sea-Captain, behaved with intolerable Insolence to the Masters of several Ships belonging to Provence, whom he met with in his Cruises. Our Court behaving with more Moderation than such Pirates deserve, desired only to have this Renegade delivered up, as being one of his Majesty's Subjects; and this the Dey and his Council have dared to refuse. But the Court absolutely insists upon having him dead or alive, and the Commandant of the Squadron that is sailed from Toulon to Tripoli, is charged to demand that Miscreant again, and, in Case of a second Denial, to bombard that City. This Squadron consists of four Ships of the Line, and two Frigates, with several Bombketches, which are to be joined by some Maltese Ships and Gallies, and a few more of his Majesty's Ships in Case of Need. Al-Effendi, the Tripolitan Envoy at this Court, is greatly perplexed: He labours to accommodate Matters, but has been given to understand, that there is no other Way to do it than by complying immediately with what the King requires.

Hague, Aug. 10. There is now a Certainty of seven Votes in the College of Electors [for the Archduke Joseph] viz. Bohemia, Mentz, Triers, Bavaria, Saxony, Palatine and Hanover, and as the 4th and 5th Section of the eleventh Chapter of the Golden Bull only require a Plurality of Votes, the Archduke has already too many.

Vicenna, Aug. 10. By an Edict just published, Duelling is forbid on Pain of Death; and when the Delinquents cannot be apprehended, they are to be executed in Effigy.

Venice, Aug. 10. A Letter is handed about here from Tunis, importing, that the Reason which induced the Dey's eldest Son to rebel against his Father, was the latter's taking away a Concubine which his Son was passionately fond of; that the unhappy Dey, after losing three Battles, was obliged to take Refuge in the Bards, where he supported a Siege for ten Days; but finding himself not in a Condition to hold out any longer, he surrendered himself at Discretion, with twelve of his Wives, whom the barbarous Conqueror caused to be massacred; that the old Man was sent back into the Castle, and kept Prisoner under a Guard of 300 Men: After which his unnatural Son caused himself to be declared Dey. It is since reported that the Witch has sent Orders to put out his Father's Eyes; and in Case he should attempt to make his Escape out of Prison, immediately to cut off his Head. (Hard Measure from a Son, and all about a Whore!)

Leghorn, Aug. 25. According to Advices from Corsica, there are two Parties in that Island, one attached to the Genoese, and the other siding with the French. The latter are Masters of most of the Ports beyond the Mountains. The Communication between that Part of the Island and Ajaccio is almost cut off. The Inhabitants of Olmetto, who hold for the Genoese, have lately obliged the French to retire from that Port, after a pretty smart Skirmish, in which the latter lost five Men. To revenge this Loss, the French summoned the neighbouring Communities to take up Arms and join them; which the Community of Alata refused to do, alledging, that they obeyed no Orders but those of the Republic's Commissary-General: Whereupon M. de Piedmont, Commander of the French Troops beyond the Mountains, assembled three hundred Men, and marched towards Alata; but a Detachment of two hundred Genoese, having reached that Place before him, he was forced to retire after summoning it in vain to surrender. Some Days after he detached a large Body of Peasants, to make another Attempt upon Alata: And as soon as the Commissary-General heard of it, a Reinforcement was sent from Ajaccio, consisting of Greeks, a People that have long been settled in Corsica, and always in the Interest of the Republic. These Peasants, besides the Resistance they met with from the Inhabitants of Alata, having been attacked in Flank by the Genoese and the Greeks, were defeated and put to Flight, with the Loss of 26 Men killed on the Spot, and five taken Prisoners, one of whom was hanged the next Day, to deter others from appearing in Arms against the Genoese. But this Check has not hindered the French from pursuing the necessary Measures to strengthen their Party: They are now assembling a large Body of regular Troops and Militia, defin'd to protect the Communities in their Interest. Gafforio, the principal Chief of the Male-Contents, has also called to Arms the Peasants that are most devoted to him, in order to make himself Master of the Port of Alata, Almetto and Quenza. Thus the Civil War in Corsica is renewed with as much Vigour as ever.

Articles from the London Papers.

By Letters from Leghorn we are told, that at the very Time the French Consul was treating with the Dey of Tripoli, who assured him that the Person he demanded was not in his Power, but proposed releasing six Christian Slaves as an Equivalent, that Renegade, whose Name is Sicard, came into Port with his Colours flying and 28 Christian Captives on Board: And, as the Custom is of Corsairs, immediately began to fire a Round of Guns. His Joy, however, was but of short Continuance; the Dey's Boat clapped him on Board, ordered all Firing to cease, his Colours to be struck, and carried him away to the Divan, where being either strangled or beheaded, his Body was delivered to the French Commodore. (When shall we have so much Influence?)

The Project upon which Baron Stalk, and Mr. Moore, are gone to France is, to make Cannon lighter, more lasting and more efficacious than they are at present. They have contrived a new Species of mixed Metal, and they give out, that a Cannon made of this Metal, one fifth of the Weight of a common Cannon, will carry farther with Half the usual Quantity of Gunpowder, fire more expeditiously, and be less liable to burst or melt. The Experiment was in Part tried here, but not approved of by those who were appointed to inspect it: They therefore made Application to the Court of France, where, after repeated Trials, they have so far succeeded, that it is reported they have been offer'd 26,000 Louis D'ors, upon the Discovery of the Secret, 12,000 Louis D'ors yearly between them, which Annuity is to be continued to the Survivor, and to be besides entitled to the Rank and Pay of Lieutenant Colonel in the French Army.

We hear a Proposal will soon be laid before the Lords of the Admiralty, relating to a Machine design'd for keeping Persons floating after Shipwreck: It is so contriv'd, that every Sailor may carry it about him at all Times, without the least Incumbrance or Inconvenience, and it is to keep them buoyant as long as they can live above Water, in spite of Surfs or Breakers.

Though the barbarous Custom among the Pagans, of burying the living Wives with their dead Husbands, in the East-Indies, has been for many Years, under severe Penalties, prohibited by the Great Mogul, and other Mahometan Princes in that Quarter of the Globe; yet they have not been able to suppress it intirely, and the following is an Instance which lately happen'd. The Writer of the Letter, from which the Account is extracted, was an Eye-witness of the whole Affair at Collicute, in Bengal (the most easterly Province of the Mogul's Dominions in India) "The naked Body of a dead Jengaw Man was laid on a Pile of Wood, made up in a regular Form; and his Wife, not above 15 or 16 Years of Age, walk'd to the Pile, conducted by her Friends and Parents, her Father on one Side, and her Mother on the other. After a great Number of previous Ceremonies were perform'd, she walk'd round the Pile seven or eight Times; in a melancholy and devout Manner, conducted as before, by her Father and Mother, she then stepp'd upon the Pile, and quietly laid herself down by the Corpse of her Husband, about whose Neck her Hands were fasten'd, and her Legs tied to his; then both their Bodies were anointed with a Sort of Unguent, called Ghee; over them was strew'd a Sort of yellow Dust, and they were cover'd with a Cloth, which was kept down by some Pieces of Wood. At last the Father of the deceased Husband set Fire to the Pile, which run through it like Lightning, by Means of the yellow Powder. And the Spectators were oblig'd to draw backward from the Heat. The whole was consum'd to Ashes in about an Hour's Time." The above Letter came home with one of the last Ships from the East-Indies; was dated from Inglee, in Bengal, December 30, 1751; and the horrid Deed of Cruelty was committed about 15 Days before the Date of the Letter.

At the Trial of Mr. Owen, an eminent Bookseller, upon an Information for publishing a Pamphlet, entitl'd, The Case of the Honourable ALEXANDER MURRAY, Esq; after a Hearing of six Hours, the Jury, having received their Charge, withdrew, and, in an Hour and forty Minutes, brought in their Verdict, NOT GUILTY, to the entire Satisfaction of a numerous and crowded Audience, who were unanimously delighted to find the Liberty of the Press (so intimately connected with the Liberty of the Subject) so justly asserted by this equitable Verdict.

Upon the Acquittal of Mr. Owen, almost as loud were the Shouts as those made at the Acquittal of the Bishops from their Libel in 1688; which were not only heard in the Standing Army at Hounslow, but all over the Nation, and the Effects not long after felt.

Joseph Benedikt, Archduke of Austria, and eldest Son of their present Imperial Majesties, who is proposed to be elected King of the Romans, was twelve Years of Age on the 2d of March last. The King of Prussia, Elector of Brandenburg, therefore urges a very plausible Reason for postponing the Election; for he alledges, that if the present Emperor should die before his Son comes of Age, as the King of the Romans must succeed to the Diadem, a Minor filling the Imperial Throne, could not have Weight or Authority sufficient to promote, or to maintain the Peace of the Germanick Body. However, it is imagin'd, he may, in Time, be brought to other Sentiments, by giving up to him all Pretensions upon the Principality of East-Friesland, as the Elector Palatine is likely to comply, by being indemnified for the Sufferings of his Territories during the late War. The Elector of Brandenburg, and the Elector Palatine, were the only two who oppos'd the Election of the present Emperor, in the Year 1745, and they both protest'd against it, but have since acknowledg'd him.

The last Amsterdam Gazette observes, that it is doubtful whether the British Commissioners at Paris have yet had any Success in their Conferences about settling the Limits of America; that at last, their Progress is slow; and that new Difficulties incessantly arise, especially in Regard to Nova-Scotia.---If so, the ready Way to solve those Difficulties, and to answer all the Objections of the Commissioners, is to break off the Conferences. But against this there seems to lie an Objection: To shew Resentment, without being in a Condition to make France feel it, would be impolite and ridiculous. To which one may answer, that to expect any Good from Delays, may be equally ridiculous, since the French must, in the common Course of Things, reap as great Advantages from Procrastination as England possibly can; and to leave any Thing to Providence, which may be compass'd by human Wisdom, is a Kind of pious Indolence not at all becoming Statesmen.

Among other Things of Importance which seem to have been of late neglected, the Growth of English Oak appears worthy of Observation; there being now such a Scarcity of that valuable Timber, that we are not able from our Trees to find Bark sufficient for home Consumption. If no Care is taken to remedy this Loss, we shall not, soon, be able to build our own Ships with English Oak, than which no Part of the World has produced better.

We hear, that through the studious Endeavours of some of his Ministers his Most Christian Majesty has taken a great Turn to Maritime Affairs; converses much with Persons skilled in extensive Commerce, encourages Schemes for new Discoveries to be laid before him, examines them himself, states Objections, attends to the Solutions that are offered, and directs the proper Trials for bringing Things to a Certainty. Whatever Satisfaction this may afford, and no Doubt it affords not a little to every considerate Frenchman, it cannot fail of exciting the Jealousy of his Neighbours, to whose Interest, his Great Grandfather's Ambition was less detrimental than the introducing, by his Example, such a Taste amongst his Subjects, would be quickly found.

We hear that the Clerk of a certain great Office was, after being examined, lately discharged from his Employment, and ordered into Custody of a Messenger for some dishonourable Practices: and it is likewise said, that a second Person, who was formerly a Clerk in another great Office, is likewise ordered into Custody for the like Practices.

John Bacon, Esq; (who died lately at Bath) desired his Friends that were by him, a few Hours before he expired, to let him be put in his Coffin in the following Manner, viz. To have his best Wig on, with a ruffled Shirt, and Stone Buttons in the Sleeves, a small Ring on his Finger, a laced Waistcoat, and a plain Coat, with black Velvet Breeches, a new Pair of Pumps, with Stone Buckles in them, and a clean Pair of white Stockings.

It seems that the French and the Dutch know how to deal with the Spaniards in the West-Indies, and without waiting for tedious judicial Forms, either make Reprisals, for the Depredations of the Guarda-Costas, or else by thundering Menaces, as the Governor of Martinico has lately done, force immediate Restitution from the Spanish Governors: And cannot England learn something of their Example? Must the greatest Maritime Power in the World, be the most patient of any under Insults? Is she to be fobb'd off with a quibbling Disfunction between commission'd Guarda-Costas, and non-commission'd Ones? Patience and Forbearance are Christian Virtues in private Men, and their own particular Concerns; every Man may, if he pleases, suffer himself to be robbed and plundered; provided he is the only Sufferer by it; but between Nations the Case is otherwise: Patience under Robbery and Insults, is Pusillanimity. Let the Sufferers by it subjoin whatever worse Epithet their Indignity may suggest.

Letters from Brest advise, that the People belonging to the Marine are exercis'd regularly twice a Week, in that Road. There are nine Vessels provided for this Purpose, each of which has eight Galley Slaves and two Sailors on Board to work her. There is a commanding Officer to conduct the Van Guard of this little Fleet, another for the Center, and another for the Rear Guard; and this Exercise is to be continued during the Summer Season, nothing being thought better to instruct young People in Maritime Affairs.

We hear that some Persons, of great Abilities and established Characters, are actually gone to visit the British Colonies in America, in Order to obtain a distinct, certain, and incontestable Account of their Condition, Interests, Connexions, Schemes of Improvements, Grievances, &c. So that in Points of such Consequence, the Mother Country may be in no Danger of being imposed on by Projectors here, or deceived by Men in Authority there.

According

According to late Advice from Georgia, which may be depended upon, the exactest Experiments have been made there in Respect to the Probability of raising Silk, and that it has been found that an hundred Worms in America make one third more of Silk, and of a better Quality, than 100 Worms in Italy; and that there is proportionably the same Advantage in their Multiplication; so that there is no Room to doubt, that if that Colony was once well peopled, we might receive for our own Manufactures what costs us annually an immense Sum in ready Money.

Sept. 18. The Grave-digger at Chelwood, in Somersetshire, lately opened a Grave, wherein a Man, who died of the Small-Pox, had been interred about 30 Years ago. By the Deceased's Desire, he was buried in an Oak Coffin, which was now so firm, that it might have been taken out whole, but the Grave-Digger not chusing that, forced his Spade through the Lid, when there came forth such a Stench, that he never smelt the like before. It being a Person of Credit that was to be buried in the Grave, the whole Village attended at the Funeral, as well as many People from the neighbouring Villages; and a few Days after 14 Persons were seized in one Day, with the usual Symptoms of the Small-Pox, and in 3 Days more every Soul but 2 in the whole Village, who had not had it, were seized in the like Manner. Their Disorder prov'd to be that Disease, and was so favourable that no more than two Persons died of the whole Number, which was about thirty; and one of them was a Woman who came down Stairs when the Pock was at the Height, and died the same Night. The same Disorder was carried all round the Villages by the Country People who attended the Funeral, and proved very favourable every where.

On August 23d. a Deputation was sent from Bristol to Bath, to congratulate her Royal Highness the Princess Amelia, on her safe Arrival there, in the Name of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council; which was done by the Sheriff's Steward, in the following Words:

May it please your Royal Highness,

The Mayor, Aldermen, and Common-Council of the City of Bristol, being glad of all Occasions to testify their Duty to his Majesty, and every Branch of his illustrious Family, do by us, the Sheriffs, beg Leave to congratulate your Royal Highness upon your safe Arrival in these Parts, to express their most ardent Wishes for the perfect Establishment of your Health, and to intreat your Royal Highness to honour the City of Bristol with your Presence.

To which her Royal Highness made the following Answer.

I am very sensible of your Attachment to the King. It is with Pleasure I remember having seen the City of Bristol, and I am sorry my Stay here will not permit me to revisit that Place.

Sept. 20. An Express arrived from the East-Indies, being sent over Land from the Malabar Coast, by which there are Letters from Surat, dated March 27, advising, that all Things were settled at Surat and Anjango, and that the Natives had given the English Factory 200,000 Rupees, to make good all Damages the Company may have sustained in the late Troubles.

By Letters from Fort St. David's, dated Feb. 27, and brought by the Warwick Indiamen, there is Advice, that Captain Clive had obliged the French and their Allies to retire from before Arcott, killed a great Number of Men, and put the rest to Flight. That the English under Jingan had drove the French from before Trichenapali. That two Nabobs in the French Interest had come over to the English with a great Number of Men, and that the French in their Return were surrounded, and were in great Distress for Want of Provisions. These Letters add, that M. Dupleix had sent Proposals to the English for an Accommodation, in the Preamble of which he set forth, that he had only succoured the Indians that sued to him for Assistance, and hoped that every Thing would be settled to the mutual Satisfaction and Advantage of the two Companies, and that all Animosity and Hostilities would cease.

Sept. 22. This Morning Randolph Branch and William Descent, were conveyed in a Cart from Newgate, and according to their Sentence were executed at Tyburn, for the Murder of Mr. Brown the Brewer's Clerk, in Wellclose-square: After their Bodies had hung about 45 Minutes, they were cut down and carried in a Coach to Surgeons Hall to be dissected, pursuant to the late Act of Parliament, in Cases of Murder.

Sept. 26. Was held a General Court of the Free British Fishery, which was opened by the President Mr. Alderman Bethell, who informed them of the Occasion of their Meeting; when a Motion was made for reading the Bye-Laws; and it being carried, they were read accordingly, and agreed to be reported next General Court; to which was also referred the filling up the several Vacancies in the Council; one Vacancy excepted, which was filled, nom. con. and with the greatest Approbation of the whole Court, by Mr. Alderman Beckford. Admiral Vernon very pathetically represented the vast Injury done to the Nation by the Swarm of French Busses at this Time on the Back of the Yarmouth Sands; and thence enforced the Necessity of our having a strict Eye to the Increase of our Naval Power, which the Undertaking of the Fishery tends to evidently to promote. The Vice-President, Mr. Alderman Janßen, gave the Court a very satisfactory Account of the Success of the Society's Busses in the Shetland Fishery this Season. After which the Court broke up, with great Cheerfulness and Unanimity.

What Reason Admiral Vernon had to take Notice of the French Busses, may appear from the following Extracts of Letters from Yarmouth and Leostoff, dated Sept. 23.

"We have the Mortification to see all the Back of our Sands lined with a Wood of French Busses; they may already amount to 300. It is a most heavy Complaint amongst all the Fishers, that the French, with their great Numbers, take the best of the Ground, and prevent our coming on it; and not content with this, they anchor afterwards upon that very Ground, whereby our Fishermen are prevented from driving on it at all."

"P. S. The French Busses are of 100 Tons and upwards, and carry thirty Hands; so that they have 9000 Sailors upon our Coast at this present Time."

Extract of a Letter from Yarmouth, Sept. 24.

"The French Busses continue as thick as Locusts on the Back of our Sands, so that our Boats have been obliged to hawl in their Nets before they had drove above half an Hour: And, what is worse, there is not, as yet, one single Sloop of War to protect the Fishery."

Letters from Madrid of the 20th ult. say, That his Catholic Majesty is resolved to send a strong Squadron to America, to support his Guarda Costas in the Execution of their Orders for preventing every Kind of contraband Trade. Which Resolution they tell us, he has taken upon Advice that the British Court intends to send a Squadron to the West-Indies, to protect the Commerce and Navigation of the English; and we can tell them that if both these Resolutions be carried into Execution, the Fate of the Spanish Squadron may be easily foretold.

HALIFAX, in Nova Scotia, August 29.

On Tuesday last, a Soldier, formerly belonging to one of the Regiments in this Province, was shot for Desertion; he died seemingly penitent: This Man, in Company with three other Soldiers, about a Year ago, stole a Boat from one of our Inhabitants, in which they made their Escape to Louisbourg, from which Place they went to France, and from thence to England; where two of them insisted again into his Majesty's Service for Gibraltar, but on their being put into the Savoy they were discover'd, and brought here in Irons, with the Recruits which lately arrived here; they were tried by a Court-Martial, and sentenc'd, the one to be shot, the other to receive 600 Lashes. We are inform'd, that the unhappy Person who was shot, had deserted fifteen Times, from different Regiments, before this for which he suffer'd.

There is now growing in a Garden in the South-Suburbs of this Town, opposite to the three Gun Battery, a Root of Barley, containing 47 Stalks, with full Ears of good Corn grain, which sprung from one Seed only; the Ears are full and near ripe, and those who have been to see it, declare it to be as large and good as any they have ever seen.

On Wednesday last arrived here two Ships with Palatines, and a Snow from Ireland with Provisions.

Sept. 24. This Day arrived here, John de Baptist, one of the Indian Chiefs, in order to treat of a Peace.

23. On Tuesday last a fine Schooner, of about fifty Tons, design'd for the Fishing Business, was launch'd here; we hope she will meet with better Fate than a Schooner launch'd here a few Months ago, which was taken by the Indians at Canfo not long since, before she had made up her first Freight of Fish. We have another Schooner ready to be launch'd in a few Days; and are also inform'd, that a Snow, of about 150 Tons, is soon to be set up in this Town, and to be finish'd with all possible Speed.

It is something encouraging to see the Quantities of Hay, Fish, Oil, &c. which is almost daily brought into this Place from Jeddore, and the new settled Islands, and which are esteemed very good of their different Kinds. We have had several Fields of Corn already mowed, and some more are yet standing, which seem to turn out very well.

NEWPORT, Rhode-Island, September 28.

Tuesday last arrived here from the Bay, in six Weeks, the Snow Jacob, John Lance Master, who informs, That soon after his Arrival there, his Craft laden with Provisions was surpris'd and taken by the Spaniards, at a Place called the Haulover: That some Days after, he in his Vessel was attacked by five small Spanish armed Barks, and the Spaniards had gained Possession of his Deck; but there being four other English Vessels then in the Bay, they came to his Assistance, and after a very smart Firing, obliged the Spaniards to quit him, leaving five of their Men on his Deck, Prisoners: These Prisoners informed him, that ten Pettiaugers with 170 Men, were gone up the new River, to intercept the Trade there, which was soon confirmed by the Return of a Flat's Crew who were taken there. The said Prisoners further informed, that the Spaniards were erecting Fortifications at Port-Mahon, about 36 Leagues from the Old River's Mouth; that there were two Ships with Stores there, who brought 250 Soldiers, as also two armed Brigs, two Gallies, and several Sloops and Xebegues; the Crews of all which work alternately at the Fortifications, and cruise in Search of Vessels bound into the Bay.

We are further inform'd, That some Time in May last, Capt. Butler in a Sloop from Bristol bound to the Bay, pass'd by Antigua; and as he was not arrived, it was thought he was taken and carried into Port-Mahon.

BOSTON, September 25.

Tuesday last a Ship arrived here from Holland, with 300 Germans, Men, Women, and Children, some of whom are going to settle at Germantown, a Part of Braintree, and the others in the Eastern Parts of this Province. 'Tis said about 40 Children were born during the Passage; and we are told, that when one of the German Women is delivered, her Friends and Neighbours do not ask (as we do) what she has got, but, born many Children. Among the Artificers come over in this Ship, there are a Number of Men skill'd in making Glafs of various Sorts, and an House proper for carrying on that useful Manufacture, will be erected at Germantown as soon as possible.

Oct. 2. Friday last Capt. Nichols arrived here from Halifax, and brought with him 45 French Soldiers, who had deserted from their Camp near Chignecto: and we hear that there is a Disposition in great Numbers of others to desert, as they can find Opportunity. Those come to Town, are young healthy Fellows, and well clothed, and propose to work with such Persons in Town or Country, as incline to employ them. Several of them are already engaged, and gone into the Country.

By Letters from Halifax we have Advice, that one of the Fishing Schooners taken by the Indians at Canfo, some Time since, which belonged to Halifax, was arrived there from St. Peters, on Cape-Breton, the Owner having first paid 2700 Livres to a French Priest for her Ransom, after she had been plundered of all her fishing Geer and Stores, and a large Quantity of Fish.

A few Days ago Capt. Elisha Doane, who with others was taken by the Indians at Canfo, on the 4th of August last came to this Town and informs, that upon their Arrival at St. Peters, all the People were sent to Louisbourg, from whence they have got Passages to their respective Places of Abode.

Oct. 9. Saturday last a Number of Gentlemen commissioned by his Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, to renew and establish Peace and Freindship with the Eastern Indians, sailed from this Port for George's, upon that important Service.

Extract of a Letter from Coracca, dated September, 9, 1752.

"This Island is so infested with Privateers, that there is scarce any Openings for Commerce. You will, no doubt, have heard of a Spanish Privateer's taking a Sloop as she lay at an Anchor at Bonira, a few Weeks ago: I can also acquaint you, that three Days ago another Privateer appeared there, and took a Schooner belonging to this Place, and another Vessel: The Schooner was bound for the Margarittas, with a Cargo of the Value of 13000 Pieces of Eight on board; she mounted 8 Carriage Guns, besides Swivels, and 45 Men; and yet never fired a Gun. By this we seem to be much degenerated from our former Glory, in which we always esteem'd ourselves not be equalled."

NEW-YORK, October 9.

Extract of a Letter from Charleston in South-Carolina, dated August 26.

"A Sloop has been spoke with off the Bar, this Morning, that has been out 18 Weeks from Liverpool, the People almost perishing. A Ship from Rotterdam, belonging to Liverpool, is just arrived with Palatines, all in good Health. One Hundred of the Savannah Indians are come to this Town for Presents, and to settle at their old Place: They have been for some Years in the Vicinity of New-York. About 100 of the Chactaw Indians we also expected here in a few Days."

Capt. Carr, who arrived here last Tuesday Night, from the Musketo Shore, informs us, That the Spaniards, by the Help of some of their Jesuits, have been endeavouring to get the Indians to rise in one Night, and cut the Throats of all the English Settlers there, and that their Plots were nigh ripe for Execution; but some Letters that were wrote to the Indian King, being intercepted, the whole Scene of Villainy was discovered, and they immediately went in Search of the Jesuits who were the Heads in this Spanish-like Contrivance.

ANNAPOLIS, in Marland, October 12.

Tuesday Evening arrived here, the Ship Friendship, Capt. James Lucas, with about 300 German Passengers. Sundry wealthy Families, it is said, are come in Capt. Lucas to settle in this Province.

November 2. We hear that there is an Account in some of the Northern Papers, that in the Beginning of September last, they had at Charles-Town in South-Carolina, the most violent Storm or Hurricane which was ever known in those Parts, whereby the fine new Fortification, and many of their Buildings were entirely ruin'd and destroyed, and that near 100 dead Bodies, had been found on the Shore; but the particular Account of it is not yet come to Hand.

WILLIAMSBURG, November 24.

The Neptune, Draper, and the Charles, Hylton, are arrived in James River, from London.

The Berry, Belcher, and Ruby, Talman, are safe arrived at London.

By a Letter from London, we are advis'd that his Lordship the Bishop of London, has been pleas'd to appoint the Rev. Mr. Thomas Dawson, Commissary for Virginia; in the Room of his Brother Dr. William Dawson deceased.
